The children were perfectly wild with delight. Their pockets were full, their hands were full, the boys' hats were full, the girls aprons were full and their mouths and hearts were full. It was a pleasing sight, indeed, to see them as they left loaded with good things and with faces beaming with smiles in spite of the disagree-sbie weather outside—expressions which all the money in the world could not have made.

THE CONSTITUTIONAL CONVENTION. While the assembly caucuses were being held the democratic senators met and discussed in caucus the constitutional convention bill passed ments at the Coleman Honse in New York yes caucus the constitutional convention bill passed has year. It was decided to postpone the convention until the account Tuesday of May, 1834, and to elect the delegates at the next November election, as follows: One hundred and twenty-eight delegates by districts, four from each senate district and thirty-eight at large, no elector to vote for more than sixteen delegates-at-large. The remaining six delegates-at-large are to be chosen as follows: Two shall be chosen by either of the leading parties receiving the second highest number of votes, two from any other organization nominating by certificate and casting the third highest number of votes, and the remaining two in the same way from the organization casting the fourth highest number of votes. This will give the prohibitionists and labor party representatives, and avoids the constitutional objection to the law last winter regarding the appointment of delegates by the governor. Senator Cantor will introduce the bill today, and expects to have it passed at once. The bill will also be introduced in the assembly.

Some of the crew were interviewed. They aid the weather was bad at the time of eighting the Umbris and heavy seas prevailed, but the disabled ship looked light and bouyant. "We stopped by her for about two hours and then left her, as we were carrying the mails," said another officer, "We agree with Mr. Mills in saving that we would have violated rules if we delayed for any other object than to save life."

The log of the Gallia has only the following meager entry: "26th, 2:40 p.m., latitude 42, longitude 57:24, spoke the Umbria. Reported machinery disabled."

The passengers seemed to think nothing about the affair. They had very little to say, as they did not understand the signaling going on between the two ships. Only two saloon passengers disembarked at Queenstown. One was Miss Thompson, living in Kingstown, near ing the Umbris and heavy seas prevailed, but

Death of Mrs. Marths J. Lamb. Mrs. Martha J. Lamb, editor of the "Maga-zine of American History," died in her spartments at the Coleman Hones in New Lork yes-terday. Her death was due to pneumonia. She was confined to her room but a few days. The greater portion of her life was speut in arduous literary work, the results of which have given her a reputation abroad as well as at home. She was born at Plainfield August 13, 1823, and was a daughter of Arvin Nash and Lucinda Vinton.

Dilutions, imitations, and counterfeits of Dr. Pierce's medicines, though sold at lower prices than the genuine medicines, are described by them. Old bottles are refilled, new ones tampered with, all sorts of substitutes offered at "cut prices," by unscrupulous dealers, who are not authorized to sell Dr. Pierce's genuine medicines. Don't be deceived by them.

These genuine, world famed remedies are now sold only through regularly authorized agents, and under a positive guarantee of benefit or cure, or money refunded. The makers take all the risk. Practically, they sell them to you on trial. On these liberal terms, the genuine guaranteed medicines can be sold only at these long-established prices; Golden Medical Discovery, $1.00 per bottle. Flacsant Pellets, 25 cents per vial. But, sold in this way and at these prices, they're the cheapest medicines that you can buy, for you pay only for the good you get.
